

Manage the risks that attend wealth, prominence and celebrity with a spectrum of specialized security strategies that enhance safety, as well as lifestyle, privacy and convenience.

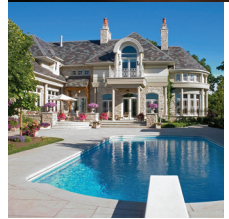

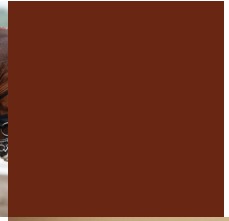

Wealth and power attract attention. Yet often individuals of means neglect to take even basic steps to protect themselves and their families. Why? Many reasons. One is a concern that security will be too obvious, intrusive and restricting. But best practices in protection and safety can actually preserve freedom, protect privacy and enhance lifestyles.

Hillard Heintze serves as a trusted advisor to senior executives, celebrities and high net worth individuals – and their direct support teams – in designing and implementing prevention-oriented security strategies based on the same protocols that protect the U.S. President, the Pope, members of Congress and other high-profile, at-risk leaders and dignitaries.
