

Understand the risks that pose the greatest threat to your people, property, performance and brand. Then use this insight to improve security program effectiveness and ROI.

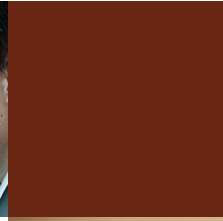

Workplace violence. Theft of credentials. Physical compromise of a secure facility. Loss of intellectual property. Fraud and extortion. Executive kidnapping. Mass evacuation events like natural disasters or terrorism. It's hard to prepare for everything. What are the greatest risks? How well are you prepared? Which gaps should you address first?

Hillard Heintze's risk, threat and vulnerability assessments employ rigorous investigative and analytical techniques to identify, assess and manage the risks confronting a business or initiative, a portfolio of corporate assets or operations, or the business and personal activities of an at-risk executive, individual or family.

CLIENTS WHO TURN TO US FOR RISK, THREAT AND VULNERABILITY ASSESSMENT SERVICES

SCOPE OF SERVICES

Comprehensive Risk, Threat and Vulnerability Assessment

Detailed and rigorous review of a wide range of natural, accidental and human threats. Analysis of the implications of these threats on current capabilities related to security, crisis management, continuity of operations and emergency preparedness. Recommendations on most attractive opportunities to better mitigate risk.

Quantitative Risk Analysis

Application of a proprietary methodology that is fully aligned with the Department of Homeland Security's approach to risk as a function of threats, vulnerabilities and consequences. Results in a prioritized ranking of risks that allows comparisons across categories. Helps capture information and craft consensus across multiple internal and external stakeholders. Provides a transparent, score-based platform that can be used to rationalize, plan and align ongoing investments in security capabilities in a manner that reflects both the risk environment and the organization's unique objectives, capabilities and constraints.
